CURL TO PREACH SECOND OF SERIES

WILL CONTINUE HIS DISCUSSION OF EVOLUTION.

BIBLE IS NOT OPPOSED

Man May Still Be Christian Whether or not He Believes in Evolution, Pastor Says.

At the First Methodist church tomorrow night, Dr. O. L. Curl will give the second of his series of lecture-sermons on the subject of evolution. After his preliminary sermon last Sunday there were many urgent requests that the series of lectures be continued. The downstairs of the church was almost filled at the first sermon.

Dr. Curl showed in the sermon last week that the Bible is not a textbook of science.

"Whether one believes or not in the theory of evolution as the manner in which God has created and made the world does not make him or disqualify him from being a Christian," the pastor declared.

"The matter of a man's Christianity depends upon his loyalty to Christ and his righteousness and not upon whether he holds some effete theory of science or not.

"And while one may not believe in either cosmic or biological evolution and still be a Christian, and is, if he lives out the spirit of Christ and His brotherly and sympathetic kindness in his relations with his fellow man, yet the more sane and probably correct interpretation of the Bible is that God has not made the world in six days of twenty-four hours each, but that He has taken a vast period for His wonderful works and developed the higher forms of life out of the lower forms.

"Certainly the Bible says nothing against evolution, and in such absence on subjects of science, we are wisest to accept the teachings of men who are real scientists rather than the theories of those who have only a smattering of knowledge picked up from irresponsible sources.

"Last Sunday evening the sermon dealt with the Bible and Evolution. Next Sunday evening the subject will be Evangelism and Evolution. Tomorrow evening it will be Science and Evolution. The order of development of the world from chaotic dust to the present highly complicated system, with man crowning God's handiwork, will be discussed in the light of the teachings of modern science.

"The Pithecanthropus-Erectus, the so-called Missing Link, or the being from which both men and the apes have descended, will be described. This animal is no longer missing; he has actually been discovered, and his relation to man nd religion will be discussed."

BEARCATS OUTGAME HEAVIER OPPONENTS

OVERCOME BEEF OF PALMER ELEVEN BY HARD FIGHTING

Touchdown and a Safety, Against Albany Team's Touchdown Makes Score 9 to 7

Kirksville State Teachers College 6, Westminster 0.

Tarkio 7, Springfield State Teachers College 0.

Central College 7, William Jewell 0.

Drury 7, Missouri Valley College 7.

Chillicothe Business College 14, Wentworth Military Academy 0.

Kansas City University 6, Warrensburg S. T. C. 0.

In a game the second half of which was played in a driving rain and in virtual darkness, the State Teachers College Bearcats outplayed and outgamed the heavy Palmer College eleven, winning 9 to 7.

The visiting team outweighed the Bearcats by twenty pounds to the man at the most conservative estimate. It was their first defeat of the season and the second consecutive victory for the Bearcats.

The Bearcats scored early in the second quarter. Line plunges, end runs and forward passes put the ball within striking distance of the goal. Another forward pass to Webb carried the oval to the six-yard line, and on the third line smash, Webb went over the touchdown. He also kicked the goal, making the score 7-0.

The first quarter had been marked by an exchange of punts, in which Palmer College had the advantage. The visitors, however, were never able to gain through the Bearcats line or around the ends, while all their forward passes were broken up. In the second quarter, when a fumble gave them the ball on Palmer's twenty-yard line. Webb caught a forward pass only a yard or two from the goal line, bue he dropped the ball, which was wet and slippery.

The second half saw a desperate battle that will never be forgotten by the spectators who stood in the drenching rain rather than leave while the game was yet undecided. It was shortly after the half opened that the Palmer touchdown was scored. A drizzle of rain had begun, which soon became a downpour. In the semi-darkness, halfback Rigney of the visiting team slipped through the Bearcats line and ran the thirty yards to the goal line before he was spied by the defenders.

The touchdown made the score 7-6 in favor of Maryville. On the attempt to kick goal, the ball struck one of the uprights, rebounded and struck the cross bar and rolled over on the far side. The kick counted one more point for Palmer and tied the score at 7-7.

The Bearcats went into the next scrimmage grimly and with determination. After an exchange of punts, they had forced the Palmer eleven on its own goal line. On the next play, the pass from center was bad and the man who would have punted out of danger was drowned behind his own line. It was declared a safety and counted the winning two points for the Bearcats.

During the rest of the game the gallant green line withstood the assaults of the heavy Palmer backs, while the crowd prayed that a disastrous fumble might not overcome the pitifully small lead. The game ended without further scoring.

The Palmer eleven lined up as follows: Rogers, le; Burkhart, lt; Bare, lg; George, c; Gibbany, rg; Chandler, rt; Baker, re; Whitley, qb; Claybaugh, rhb; Werner, fb; Rigney, lhb.

Substitution—Ray for Werner.

R. C. Lamke of Moberly refereed the game. The umpire was J. E. Pixley of Kansas City, a star on the Uni-

DOCTORS ASK MINISTERS AID IN CHECKING CANCER

Society For Control of Dread Disease Designates October 30-November 5 As Week of Education

The doctors of the nation have united in appointing the week of October 30 to November 5 as "National Cancer Week." Their purpose is to tell all the people that, in most cases, cancer can be cured. The campaign is under the auspices of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The ministers of the churches have been requested to read the following statement prepared by the society at their services tomorrow:

"In order to do our work properly in this world, we must keep our bodies sound.

"The two greatest diseases attacking the human body are tuberculosis and cancer.

"We all know of the splendid fight that has been put up by both the medical profession and the laity on tuberculosis, and the greatly reduced death rate resulting therefrom.

"This week we are asking you to give your special attention to cancer.

"Cancer kills more people in the United States every year than the number of American soldiers killed by bullets in the World War.

"Fifty thousand lives can be saved every year by early treatment. Will you help save these lives?

"These are the things you can do:

1. "Read the leaflet, 'Vital Facts About Cancer,' distributed at this service.

2. "Follow the advice given therein.

3. "Tell your friends about it."

Do you know that cancer is the fifth greatest cause of death in the United States? Cancer is causing approximately 90,000 deaths in the United States each year or 13,000 more lives than were lost among our soldiers during two years of war.

Just think of it. Cancer causes at present: One out of every ten deaths in people passed 40 years of age; one out of every eight deaths in women, and one out of every thirteen in men above that age.

Ninety-five per cent of deaths from cancer occurs above 35 years of age. Between the ages of 35 and 45, three times as many women as men die of cancer.

Cancer can be cured in a majority of cases when detected early, for it is then a local disease.

Unfortunately cancer in early stages is frequently not accompanied by pain and is therefore neglected until it becomes inoperable. Medicine which relieves pain doesn't have any effect upon the disease itself. It simply delays the proper treatment.

Consult your doctor immediately upon the appearance of any unusual growth, persistent sore, bloody discharge or bleeding from internal surfaces.

MARYVILLE MEN NOW GOLF FIENDS

COME HOME FROM SHENANDOAH ALL "PEPPED UP"

SHOWN A ROYAL TIME

Visitors Get Practice In Arithmetic Counting Total of Strokes—Now For Course Here

Shenandoah royally entertained a number of business men of Maryville yesterday when they were guests of the Southmoreland Country Club of that city at a day of golf. And every Maryville business man came home last evening a golf fan and all "pepped" up for a golf club here. For many of the Maryville men, yesterday's golf game at Shenandoah was their first.

Nine holes of golf were played in the morning. Golf bags, balls, caddies and instructions were furnished by the Shenandoah members. There were several remarkable scores made, it being reported that A. N. Somerville made the course in a 58 and Editor Fred Hull in a 116. Dr. O. L. Curl said his score was one less than that of the Rev. S. P. Allison no matter what Allison's score was.

Rain interferred with a game in the afternoon. Many of the visitors visited the business stores of Shenandoah and attended a football game between Shenandoah High School and Corning which resulted in a 14 to 14 tie.

The Southmoreland Country Club is located at the edge of Shenandoah. It has a beautiful nine hole golf course. A club house is now being built at a cost of about $8,000. The land for the club cost $500 an acre. There are 155 members in the club.

A dinner was given at the Delmonico hotel last evening by the Shenandoah men, for the visitors. H. E. Ralston, a former Maryville citizen who has been away from here for about 10 years, presided as toastmaster. He had Editor C. N. Marvin of the Shenandoah Sentinel-Post and Editor Fred Hull of Maryville to take charge of the speaking program. Speeches were made by the Rev. Mr. Allison, Dr. Curl and E. C. Curfman of Maryville and several Shenandoah men spoke.

Ernest J. Andrews, a former Maryville boy, has the largest dry goods store in Shenandoah. He was with the Maryville men all day. Eugene Crowson, son of Dr. Crowson of Pickering, is an operator for the Burlington Railroad there.

At some later date, probably next year, Maryville expects to entertain the business men of Shenandoah. We hope by that time to have a golf course here.

ARBUCKLE LAWYERS BEGIN PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENSE

Friend of Virginia Rappe Says Chronic Disease Might Have Caused Her Death.

Chicago, Oct. 29—Charles Grennan chief counsel for Roscoe Arbuckle, arrived here today from California to take depositions for use in the trial of the film comedian charged with the death of Virginia Rappe. At least five persons will be questioned. The interest of the defense is centering upon the statement of Mrs. Josephine Roth, intimate friend of the dead girl, that Miss Rappe was suffering from a chronic disease of organs which probably would have caused her death in case of any sharp fall or misstep.

Drill Team Will Give Exhibition—Initiatory Work Held at the I. O. O. F. Hall

Visiting De Molays from the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Chillicothe chapters are expected at the De Molay Day celebration which is to be held in Maryville Monday. Invitations have been extended to these chapters to send delegations and from all indications there will be over 100 visitors here.

The program will begin with an exhibition drill by the drill patrol of the local chapter. This drill will be given at 7:00 p. m. on the west side of the square. The public is cordially invited to see this drill.

There are only two drill patrols of this kind in Missouri, one of them being in Kansas City, the mother chapter, and the other in Maryville. There are only seven patrols in the United States.

The drill team is under the direction of Harry Snyder, and they have been brushing up for the past week in order to give a creditable drill.

At 7:15 o'clock, the visiting De Molays and the Masons will be welcomed by the reception committee at the I. O. O. F. hall, where the initiatory ceremonies are to be held.

At 7:30 o'clock, the initiatory work will begin. Both of the degrees will be conferred on a class of thirty-one candidates. All of the Masons in Maryville and other towns are invited to be present.

Immediately following the initiation, a parade of the Masons and De Molays will be held. The line of march will be from the hall down Third Street to Main, down Main to First, and down First to the High School building.

At the High School, in the long corridor, a banquet will be held. Dr. Jesse Miller, Jr., will act as toastmaster, and speeches will be given by Judge John M. Dawson, President Uel W. Lamkin of the State Teachers' College, and others. Talks will also be made by visiting Masons and De Molays.

After the banquet the visitors will be conducted to the High School auditorium, where an aftermath will be held.

REESE FOUND NOT GUILTY BY JURY

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF ARSON IN THIRD DEGREE.

DRAINAGE CASES SET

Petit Jury Was Excused for Today—Circuit Court in Session Only a Short Time.

Willis Reese was found not guilty late yesterday evening of the charge of arson in the third degree. The jury was out two and a hlf hours and it is reported the first ballot stood 9 for acquitted and 3 against, while many ballots after that stood 10 for acquittal to 2 against.

Reese was indicted by the recent grand jury on the charge of setting his nephew's house on fire. The evidence was entirely circumstantial, tending to show ill feeling between Reese and his nephew, James W. Reese.

The petit jury was discharged until Monday when the case of J. F. Roelofson, public administrator, estate of Margaret Comegys against Leonard Whitten, an appeal from probate, will come up.

Circuit court was only in session a short time today and the following proceedings were had:

William J. Hitchcock against Charley E. Reese and Charley E. Reese, administrator C. T. A., of Charlotte Reese estate, judgment on a note for $108.94.

William J. Hitchcock against Charley E. Reese and Willis Reese, judgment on a note for $143.19.

Farmers State Baank of Wilcox vs. Sarah Buzzard, et al, judgment on a note for $681.80.

A number of drainage cases were set for hearing next week. In these cases exceptions were filed to the report of the commissioners of the Nodaway-Andrew district and the matter will be tried in court. The cases set today are:

November 2—Samuel Murphy and Fisher & Potts.

November 3—David Gebhart, George Gebhart, Glen Thompson and Lewis Bedford.

November 4—New Thompson, Solon Thompson, Wallace Crockett.

November 7—W. W. Jones, T. E. Archer, Joe Stoll, John Sturm.

November 8—L. F. Growney, Ed Allen, J. B. Robinson and Nodaway County.

MARYVILLE-SAVANNAH GAME CALLED AFTER FIRST HALF

Neither Team Able to Score on Muddy Field—Will Play Here Next Week.

With the score a 0-0 tie, the Savannah-Maryville High School game at Savannah yesterday was called at the end of the first half. At that time it had begun to rain hard and the officials agreed that neither team could play real football under such conditions. Savannah will play here next Friday.

Maryville had all the best of it in the half of the game that was played. The Savannah team never once made first down and never had the ball past the fifty-yard line. Maryville not only was in Savnnah territory all the time but was within one inch of a touchdown, a peculiar accident preventing a score.

The play occurred on the fourth down with the ball near the Savannah goal. Barry received the ball on the last plunge and would easily have gone over the line had he not struck the goal post. When the referee dug to the bottom of the pile he found the ball lacked an inch of being across.

Barry made a spectacular run in which he eluded all tacklers and was apparently headed for a touchdown when he slipped on the muddy field and fell. At another time Ellis caught a Savannah punt, broke through the entire Savannah team and had a clear field to the goal line when he slipped and fell.

The teams were about evenly matched in weight. Savannah rooters maintained that their team was severely handicapped by the muddy field, as they depend upon the speed of their backfield. The disputed point will be settled here next Friday.

A number of rooters accompanied the local team in cars. On the return trip, most of the cars met with accidents or were unable to get through the mud. Several were left at points along the route and others did not arrive in Maryville until after midnight.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

If the state could get all the applicants for places on the state highway commission to work on the roads, we might not need a bond issue.

The big strike has been called off. Now, let everybody get busy, quit painting gloom pictures and let business and prosperity go forward. There will probably be no further wage cuts but there will be and should be further cuts in freight rates. The cuts already ordered on grain rates are a starter and should bring good results.

The international organization of the United Mine Workers of America announces that it will make a court test of the Kansas Industrial law in an orderly and dignified manner. This is not in harmony with the ideas of Howatt, but it is the way good citizens should proceed in this country. It is always proper to test the constitutionality of laws or to endeavor to have them repealed if we do not believe they are proper laws, but defiance of law and order never promotes either law, order or good citizenship.

What has become of a distinguished former Governor of Massachusetts named Coolidge? When last heard from he was running for Vice President or something of the sort and he was going to be the big works in Washington when he got there. Now the question is, has he got there or is he just another of the long list of Vice Presidents. The established rule of obscurity for vice presidents seems to be too firmly founded to be broken down. Former Vice President Marshall seems to have sized up the situation correctly when he said there was nothing for a vice president to do but just be vice president and let it go at that.

Mail Numbers and Boxes

Mail receptacles and house numbers to insure proper mail delivery are required by the postoffice department an announcement from the department says:

If expeditious and efficient city delivery service is to be accorded it is essential that all buildings to which mail is delivered be properly numbered and equipped with private mail receptacles. Without house numbers carriers are delayed in serving the routes and errors in delivery unavoidably occur, especially when substitutes are on duty. This condition, coupled with the lack of mail receptacles, inevitably impairs efficiency and delays delivery, with a resultant inconvenience and loss. To correct this evil it has been decided to conduct a nation-wide campaign with a view to having every building properly numbered and equipped with a suitable receptacle or opening in the door.

House numbers enable carriers to locate promptly buildings to which mail is addressed, and avoid errors and delays in delivery. Mail receptacles insure the prompt and safe delivery of mail in the absence of occupants. Avoid delay of mail through return to office because of absence of occupants or delay in answering carriers' ring. Obviate the necessity of patrons responding to the bell at inconvenient moments. Expediate the service generally, and permit more prompt deliveries, especially to patrons residing near the end of the route. The practive of placing mail in vestibules, under doors, on window sills, etc., where it is exposed to theft and the elements, is hazardous and frequently results in the loss of highly valuable or important mail.

And above all things have your mail addressed to street and number.

"I say, pater, can you let me have $50 on account?" There was the usual solicitous expression on William Sylvester's young face as he made his familiar request. Old John Pennynickle dropped his copy of the Evening Gazette and his mild gray eyes looked out troublously at the boy from behind a barricade of shabby, misshapen spectacles.

"You haven't spent all of your allowance this early, Will?" he demanded. "Why, when I was your age an allowance like that would keep me in funds for a year."

"But, pater, this is the Twentieth century!" William Sylvester's stock wail was delivered with the open exasperation of seventeen. "Besides, in a one-horse town like Meeds, $50 a month is barely enough to get by on—and keep up appearances, I mean!" The boy in concluding shot an appealing sidelong glance at his mother. And that lady, whose ruling ambition was to see her children firmly and safely established "in the right class," rallied to his defense.

"Sylvester is right," she declared in the judicial tone of one used to handing down final decisions; "it is only reasonable to expect that the son of one of Meeds' leading citizens should keep up a decent front—"

"I was thinking of the store," said "pater," offering a feeble defense. "I've had to sell that last lot of hardware at a loss. Business is pretty dull just now, you know—"

"Business again!" Mrs. John Pennynickle's crisp voice pounced upon the word scornfully. "Do you consider business more important than your children's future? I must say, John Pennynickle—"

"Oh, all right, mother, all right," capitulated the old man hastily. Anything, he told himself, to escape another of Carrie's tongue-lashings. "You come around to the store in the morning, Will, and I'll fix you up."

"Thanks, pater," William Sylvester flashed a look of triumph in his mother's direction. Then he turned back to his father with an apologetic grin.

"I wouldn't have asked you for this," he explained, "if it wasn't for the fact that Norry and Christine are coming home next week. They'll probably bring along some of their swell friends and—well, you know what that means, pater."

"Yes," Pater knew what it meant, well enough. Money! Each time the children came home from college he made feverish trips to the bank. He would do so again.

Norris was the first to tap the parental resources. He and a college chum were planning to establish a summer restaurant.

"Mints of money in it, pater," he confided earnestly. "All I need to start in with is about $500. You could let me have that much, couldn't you?" Pater let him have it. No sooner was this affair concluded than Christine revealed her plan for an elaborate black and white frolic.

"Just a little welcome home party," she told her father sweetly. "Please do this for me, pater, darling!" And of course "pater darling" did.

Christine's little party was a picturesque affair that cost several hundred dollars. Meeds flocked to it and enjoyed itself hugely.

The day after the black and white frolic pater was knocked down by an automobile on South Main street. His family was deeply shocked.

"But I didn't suppose anything could ever happen to pater!" Christine moaned to Doctor Stanton when they went to visit Pennynickle in the Hillside hospital.

"Oh, yes," he responded with thinly veiled sarcasm. "You know even the best machine made is subject to wear and tear. In pater's ward the children lingered about uncomfortably and blamed themselves mercilessly for the calamity. Once outside—they blamed each other. Only Carrie seemed genuinely affected by the accident.

"I'm ashamed of myself, John," she whispered to the bandaged figure on the hospital cot. We've all been driving you like an old workhorse—"

Pater reached up and patted her hand.

"It's all right, mother," he mumbled weakly. "We—we had to think of the children's future, you know. Don't worry. I'll be out of here in a week." But he was wrong. It was a whole month before he was able to leave the hospital. At home he found two letters awaiting him.

One, containing a bill, was from Christine, who was in the White mountains, "recuperating from a nervous breakdown." The other was from Norris.

"The restaurant is coming along slowly," he wrote. "Do you think you could wire an additional $200—just to see the thing through?" Pater showed the two letters to Doctor Stanton, who had accompanied him.

"Well," commented the cynical doctor, "I guess they'll never learn. They should be ashamed of themselves—"

"What for?" Pater's head shot up aggressively. A tender light flooded his gray eyes. "Christine was elected president of her class at Wellesley last term. Will made the high school eleven, too. And Norris—what a head for business that boy has! Ashamed? Not a bit of it! If I do say it myself, they're a right smart set of children!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO

(Taken from the Nodaway Democrat, October 25, 1871).

Hopkins is putting on the airs of a wholesale town. A. N. Schuster last week sold an Iowa merchant $2,700 worth of clothing from his Hopkins house, and has an abundance left.

G. Kuenster, Esq., city collector, requests us to say that his books will be open one week longer, and those who have not paid their town tax had better pay, if they believe there is a "H—ere-after."

Dr. H. E. Robinson requests us to say that he has removed his dental rooms from the post office building to the Union Block, upstairs, where he will be at all times, be pleased to see his friends and patrons.

There has been some talk among the business men and the town authorities in regard to making arrangements for having the town watched at night. Some advocate the employment of a night watchman, while others think that the safer plan would be for the business men to take "turns" at watching. Something ought to be done, and we hope the matter will not be dropped without taking some action on it. A hook and ladder company would be a good thing for Maryville, we think.

Historic Tollgate Property Sold.

The historic Hillman tollgate property, south of Winchester, Va., on the Shenandoah valley pike, where during the Civil war Mrs. Lottie Hillman pulled the gate on General Sheridan while he was on his ride to save his army at Cedar Creek, demanding that he pay toll, has been sold by the state highway commissioner to Roy N. Cook. The lot contains less than an acre of ground, and the price was $3,500. The sale was made under authority of an act of the general assembly taking over the old valley pike and making it a free state road.

MARSHAL FOCH GREETED BY CHEERS IN WASHINGTON

French General Pays Visit To Woodrow Wilson, Dines With President Harding

Washington, Oct. 29—With the flourish of trumpets and cheers of huge crowd ringing in his ears, Marshal Foch called at the White House today and was received by President Harding. Accompanied by General Pershing and French Ambassador Jusserand under escort of a cavalry troop, Foch was greeted by a sea of humanity along Pennsylvania avenue. Today he will visit Woodrow Wilson, former president. He will dine with President Harding at the White House.

The French general delivered the following greeting to America on landing in New York.

It is a very great satisfaction for me to come here and meet again my American brothers in arms.

These soldiers whom I had the honor to lead in 1918 on the battle fields of France, brave and gallant in the performance of the duties of war, I am now to have the deep pleasure to see displaying in the work of peace the same qualities which made their strength and glory throughout the war.

It is likewise a very great joy for me to visit them in their homes where they received the inspiration and training which animated them so powerfully.

But during my visit in the midst of the living, my thoughts remain with the absent ones, the brave soldiers of your great country who gave their lives for our common cause.

May all those who mourn their death be assured of my profound sympathy.

Their sacrifice has not been in vain. It rests as the basis of peace of the world for which we are working in common today, inspired by the same sentiments which united us on the fields of battle.

News From Over The County

Hopkins Journal

Mrs. Bigger, who was a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Kirk in this city last week, had quite an experience while enroute home or rather after reaching Kansas City. When she left the Pullman she picked up what she supposed was her grip but when she reached home and opened it, she was very much mistaken as well as surprised, finding the grip contained a loaded revolver and brand new divorce papers, and of course was frightened when she thought of how carelessly she had handled the grip with a 44-caliber loaded revolver in it. She at once sent the grip to the proper department at the union depot where lost and found articles are taken and was fortunate enough to locate her own grip at the same place.

Graham Tribune

Ye editor of the home paper was as busy last Sunday as the proverbial one-armed paper hanger who had the itch. He preached two funeral sermons at Quitman, one at 11:30 and the other, military funeral with burial at Burlington Junction Mo., at 2 p. m., besides his two regular sermons at Bethany. He drove 70 miles in 12 hours in order to meet these engagements.

But the ball was started rolling on Saturday, with a wedding in Graham at 11 a. m., followed by a baptismal service in the Hundred and Two river at Barnard, which of course meant a 30 mile drive.

This week in order to keep out of mischief he is holding a meeting at Antioch Christian church, preaching every night and driving home after the services, a distance of about 10 miles, and yet some are wondering why the editor has no time to serve as a member of the school board.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN OF THE APOCALYPSE"

At The Empire Theater Here On November 7, 8 And 9

One of the most important engagements of the season begins at the Empire Theater November 7, 8, and 9, when the Metro Pictures Corporation will present for the first time in Maryville Rex Ingram's tremendous picturization of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's novel "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" which is now being offered simultaneously in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The opening scenes of "The Four Horsemen" represent an Argentine port, a scene that was only suggested in the book but developed into a big scene by June Mathis, the adaptor, to show the beginning of Julio Desnoyers—the leading character in the play—as a dancer in a rough cabaret, learning the tango and maxine with which he was later to astonish Paris. On seeing the first photographs of this scene, Senor Ibanez wrote to Richard A. Rowland, President of the Metro, saying: "I endorse them without qualification. The acting, the backgrounds, the ensemble—all are superb. I had a suggestion of what these scenes might be in my conversation with Miss Mathis when she outlined her ideas for the picture when I was in your country. And it is to Miss Mathis that the credit for their richness and wonderful coloring is due."

Rex Ingram, the director of "The Four Horsemen," also drew a congratulatory telegram from the great Spanish author. The man responsible for the clearness of the photography is John Seitz, and Amos Myers, the famous art director, is the man who designed the backgrounds. The cast is a big one of fifty principals and includes Rudolph Valentino, Alice Terry, Wallace Beery, John Sanpolis, Stuart Holmes, Pomeroy Cannon, Joseph Swickard, Virginia Warwick, Broadwitch Turner, Mabel Van Buren, Jacques d'Auray, and many others of equal repute. In the great ensembles the director, Rex Ingram, used more than 12,000 extras. A musical setting of real merit has been arranged by Ernest Luz for "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

The local engagement is for three days with daily matinees.

BEARCATS OUT GAIN HEAVIER OPPONENTS

versity of Missouri eleven in 1909, 1911 and 1912, and later coach of the Missouri Wesleyan team. W. N. Deatherage of Maryville, another University star, was head linesman.

A glance at the standing of the teams in the conference after yesterday's games reveals seven teams in ties for three places. For the upper berth, Missouri Wesleyan and Kirksville are tied in percentage, although the former has won one more game. William Jewell has undisputed hold on third place, but Rolla and Central College are tied for fourth place. Maryville, Drury and Tarkio are in a triple tie on the next notch. This gives Maryville a rating that she has not held in football for some time, and if the Bearcats continue with their good work, they did fair to finish with the first division teams.

According to the dope they have a slight edge on Tarkio for the game next Friday, as Kirksville defeated the Tarks 21 to 6, and won from the Bearcats by only 13 points. The game with Warrensburg is the only remaining conference game for the local eleven after the Tarkio game.

Warrensburg is weak this year and has lost three games and won none. If Sprong's men win both their remaining conference games, they will have a percentage of .750, which should place them mighty close to the top. If the present dope is not misleading they should bring home victories from Tarkio and Warrensburg.

The M. I. A. A. standing now is as follows:

Missouri Wesleyan	4	0	0	1.000
Kirksville	3	0	0	1.000
William Jewell	3	1	0	.750

EASY TO BUILD FIRE ON ICE

With the Understanding of the Properties of Gas, It Is Not Hard to Create Illusion.

Carbide or more properly, calcium carbide, is a wonderful substance made in the electric furnace by heating lime and coke, writes H. Gernsbach in Science and Invention. It is a hard gray stone-like material and no doubt familiar to you as the gas-generating medium employed in some kinds of bicycle lamps. When brought in contact with water it instantly liberates gas, acetylene, which gives a brilliant light when properly burned.

This property can be strikingly demonstrated in the following manner:

Place a few lumps of carbide on a block of ice. Above the freezing point of water (32 degrees F.) ice is always covered with a film of water sufficient to start some action with the carbide. The heat generated by the chemical reaction melts more ice, making more heat and generating more gas, so that in a moment the lumps will have begun to bore little holes in the ice. If a match is applied, the escaping acetylene gas ignites and burns with bright but smoky flames so that to the observer the ice appears to be burning. Since acetylene gas contains much carbon, when it is burned in the air without special burners, it gets insufficient oxygen to burn up all this carbon. As a consequence of this richness in carbon, or insufficient oxygen, a veritable "black snowstorm" results in a few minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

Fire and Ice Combined.

Confirmed Superstitious Belief.

An instance of the coastal belief that a horse always goes back to its old home after death is reported by a British Columbia reader. A contractor lost a horse by drowning on the west coast of Vancouver island. It was towed out to sea; next day it floated back in again. The carcass was again towed out, only to return to the beach four days after. On both occasions it was towed several miles before being cast adrift; also a strong ebb tide was running at the time.

NECESSITY VS. LAW

"Necessity knows no law."

"He'd be right at home among the practitioners in my court," said the old Judge.

Baby's Arms of Peculiar Formation.

A baby near Canaan, N. B., was born with elbows where its wrists should have been. They were exactly the same as ordinary elbows. The number of fingers was all right, but they were partly without bone, being only joined to the hands by the flesh. Some had only a little piece of bone to the end as far as the first joint.

A Compliment For Ziegler

A last final pep meeting was held Friday morning. The yelling and singing were wonderful. Miss Hailey called on Mr. Ziegler, the Superintendent of the Maryville schools, to make a talk. He certainly did say some fine things. He has the right spirit—if we can judge the Maryville schools by their superintendent we will say that they are certainly fine—that they have the real fight," but no unjust spirit of rivalry. Mr. Sanford and Mr. Barnes talked to us and showed that their spirit is equal to that of Mr. Ziegler.—Trenton High School paper, "The Pep."

RED CROSS WORKING FOR HEALTHIER U. S.

Thousands Aided by Instruction in Care of the Sick, Food Selection and First Aid.

How the American Red Cross guides thousands of persons to health is shown in a summary of the society's activities in the health field based upon the annual report for the last fiscal year. Through its Nursing Service, its Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses, nutrition classes, First Air classes, Life-Saving classes and Health Centers and in numerous other ways designed to acquaint masses of citizens with proper methods of living, the Red Cross carried its message of health into all parts of the country.

The work of the Red Cross during the war in its traditional field of nursing, furnishing the military and naval establishments of the nation with 19,877 nurses, is well known. And there are today 37,787 nurses registered with the American Red Cross and subject to call in emergency. During the fiscal year, 1,551 Red Cross nurses were accepted for assignment to Government service, 388 by the Army and Navy and 1,163 by the United States Public Health Service.

In addition to the nurses enrolled by the Red Cross for Government service, the Red Cross itself employed a total of 1,348 public health nurses in the United States and Europe. By far the greatest number was employed in the United States, 1,257, while 81 were in foreign service.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick classes, giving thorough instruction in the proper care of the sick in instances where the illness is not so serious as to require professional nursing care, during the fiscal year numbered 5,179. A statistical picture of the Red Cross operations in this field follows:

New classes formed during year	5,179
Classes completed during year.	6,29
New students enrolled	101,068
Students completing course	73,482

What the Red Cross accomplished in giving proper instruction through its Nutrition Service is indicated by the following table:

New classes formed during year	142
Classes completed during year..	186
New students enrolled	2,341
Students completing course....	2,013

In addition to the above, a total of 22,006 children were given instruction in the proper selection and preparation of foods.

Through its 260 Health Centers, the Red Cross reached 90,252 persons. In these Health Centers, 4,015 health lectures were given and 780 health exhibits held.

In the United States last year, 75,432 persons were killed and 3,500,000 injured in industrial accidents. To prevent this enormous waste the Red Cross held 5,100 first aid classes with a total of 104,000 students enrolled.

STRAP-HANGING IN ENGLAND

Congestion Permissible in War Times Has Been Stopped by Commissioner of Police.

"Nevermore," says London, according to the Boston Herald, Our American institution of "straphanging" was imported there while the city was enormously overcrowded during the war, and the people have had more than enough of it. The practice was a breach of traffic laws and police regulations, but it was winked at as a matter of necessity, because the proprietors of the underground railways, electric cars and omnibuses were apparently unable to find the labor or provide the vehicles that might have kept their systems in operation under ordinary conditions. Now, the war having been officially declared at an end, the London commissioner of police has decided that the time has come to re-enforce the regulations for the public comfort.

Each passenger shall have a seat. None shall stand in vestibule or on platform. Any conductor admitting more persons than the vehicle is licensed to carry will be prosecuted and fined. Such an offense in a car owned by a manufacturing will entail dismissal. The people are to be in mere like "driven cattle," whether dumb or not. Comfortable travel comes again, and the travelers rejoice. They will tell us, no doubt, that we Americans are joined to our idols, and in too great a hurry to change. Perhaps. Sometimes the most of us seem to have no time to think of it. And yet we survive!

Souvenirs of Many Weddings.

Since Attorney Charles R. Johnson of Worcester, Mass., became a justice of the peace in 1889 he has married 700 couples. He has a large collection of wedding-ring boxes of all kinds, which he saves, from boxes of white satin and plush to the battered pasteboard box.

Cotton Mills Show Big Gain.

Today the output of the cotton mills of North and South Carolina alone is greater than the combined output of all the mills in the southern states 25 years ago.

His Yawning Disastrous.

Next Week At the Movies

At The Empire

The langorous South Sea Islands mingle with London's Limehouse slums in George Fitzmaurice's latest production, "Idols of Clay," which will have its first local showing at this theater Monday and Tuesday nights. Mae Murray and David Powell are the featured players. The story was written by Ouida Bergere

The central characters are Faith Merrill, a pretty, innocent creature living with her father, Jim Merrill, a derelict, and his dissolute partner, Blinky, on an obscure South Sea island. Merrill and Blinky sell illicit rum to the natives in return for smuggled pearls. To the island comes Dion Holme, a young sculptor, who is drifting around the world in the effort to forget an unfortunate affair with a Lady Gray, in London. Faith picks him up half conscious on the beach, and under her care not only his health, but his considerable talent for working in clay returns. Later Jim Merrill is killed in a drunken brawl and Dion, completely restored, returns to London to take up his career again.

The exciting adventures that befall Faith when she attempts to follow him form the remainder of the action.

On Wednesday and Thursday Tom Moore will be featured in "Hold Your Horses." No advance information is at hand on the plot of this picture, but the star is the best recommendation for the picture. Tom Moore is one of the most popular screen stars with Maryville theatergoers and this picture is said to be one of his best.

Louis Joseph Vance's popular novel "Bean Revel," has been splendidly picturized by Thomas H. Ince. The title role is played by Lewis Stone, the well-known screen actor, who gives a striking portrayal. Lloyd Hughes, one of the recent Thomas H. Ince finds, plays the son with intelligence and lovely Florence Vidor is Nellie Steel, the dancer. The story concerns the efforts of "Beau" Revel, leader of New York's 'four hundred" to save his son, Dick, from the charming dancer, Nellie Steel, whom he believes unfit to be his wife. "Beau," however, trifles with women's affections that he is, really falls in love with Nellie for the first time in his life. The climax when both father and son find that they love the same girl is one of the most intense ever shown on the screen. The support is excellent.

This picture will be shown Friday and Saturday nights.

At The Electric

Monday night is serial night. The third episode of "The Son of Tarzan" will be shown. Interest in this serial seems to increase every week and every new episode seems to be crowded full of additional thrills. There will also be a Western picture and comedy shown Monday night.

On Tuesday night William Fairbanks will be shown in a Western star production "Hearts of the West." This is a forceful Western picture with the scenes laid in Gold Bend during the Gold Rush. Fairbanks stakes out a claim and strikes it rich, but is big-hearted enough to share it with Barney an unfortunate friend of his. A very interesting series of happenings are built around these two men in the great undeveloped country in the early days.

"The Man Who," by Lloyd Osborne, which will be remembered by Saturday Evening Post readers as one of the most delightful stories of many seasons, has been made into a motion picture by Arthur Zellner and will be presented Wednesday and Thursday.

It is a Maxwell Karger production for Metro, starring Bert Lytell in the role of Beddy Mills, the New York bank clerk who tried to become the Man Who Broke the Shoe Trust.

Beddy's ambition to become a Man Who inspired by his desire to win the favor of Helen Jessop, daughter of an old New York family, who has no use for men who were just "nice and ordinary." So Beddy decides to go about faultlessly dressed, except that his feet are always bare as a protest against the high price of shoes. Going barefoot into exclusive social circles produces amusing complications and inspires a national barefoot campaign.

On Friday night Alice Calhoun will be seen in "Peggy Puts It Over." It is a picturesque production of rural life and written in a comedy vein contrasted with scenes of a more emotional nature. Alice Calhoun, is given a role which becomes her better than anything in which she has previously appeared. While she portrays the rural girl, she is not of the country mouse type, but a college-bred who is graduated from a polytechnic institute with the degree of Civil Engineer. She attempts and succeeds in a building project which her father and others have tried and been forced to abandon. She overcomes the opposition of the inhabitants and succeeds in marrying the chief opposer. Beautiful locations have been selected for the production which also gives it a scenic value and makes it an educational picture.

On Saturday Eugene O'Brien will be featured in "The Last Door." The story treats with the exploits of a gentlemanly crook who plies his trade for the sake of adventure. While impersonating a wealthy society scion The "Magnet" Eugene O'Brien, becomes involved in a series of ad ventures that are both novel and exciting. In addition there is a mystery element and a touching love theme that takes a most unusual twist at the end

A. S. Robey Writes of Places and People Seen on His Western Trip

Denver, Colo., Oct. 25, 1921.
Editor Democrat-Forum:

Just a brief outline of the trip we are on and as far as we have gone on this trip.

My wife and I and son, Junior, left Maryville, September 4, stopping the first night at Omaha. We proceeded on our way, our next stop being St. Paul, where we spent one day, then Minneapolis another day. We next stopped at Winnipeg, Canada, then due west about 2,000 miles to Vancouver, B. C., stopping between these points in the Dominion of Canada at Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Sicarnons, then Vancouver. I must comment on the scenery at Banff where the snow covered the mountain peaks towering hundreds of feet above the railroad tracks, and in many places overhanging the track. Then there is Lake Louise with its large lake, fed by the Great Glacier, where snow and ice lie the year around, and its waters look as blue as indigo. From what I have read I don't think Switzerland for scenery has anything that beats this place. If any of you visit Lake Louise and intend to stay very long, I would advise you to make some permanent arrangements with your banker at home, for it will cost you from $15 to $25 per day minimum and maximum $50 without trimmings. In fact, you can just part with all the cash you want to, then not see it all. It was very cold at this place. We encountered a heavy snow storm there. You cannot afford to pass Lake Louise without stopping a day or two.

From Vancouver we took the steamer Charlotte to Victoria. We stopped for a few days at both Vancouver and Victoria. From Victoria we again took the steamer Princess Adelaide for Seattle, where we stopped a few days. Then on to Portland, Ore., stopping again two days. Then on to Ashland and Redding, stopping only a day at each of these two cities. Sacramento, Cal., was our next stop. We stayed there two days, where we visited the capitol building and viewed its fine surroundings. For the grounnds are indeed beautiful. Every known variety of trees and shrubbery, I think, grows in its beautiful square and a veritable bed of flowers covers almost every vacant spot in and around the grounds.

At San Francisco we spent a week visiting the parks, among them being the Golden State Park, which space will not permit of description. We saw the seal rocks covered with seals. We also took a good plunge in the ocean. We next went to Lindsay, where we visited our son, Donald Robey. Lindsay is the center of the orange groves and in fact, the center of the fruit bearing district of California. We spent one week here driving over this fine fruit district.

Our next stop was at Los Angeles, staying there two weeks. We met many old friends, among them being Ben, Paul and Frank Litts, George Shelton, Harry Irwin, Billy Dawson, Art Saylor, Bert Harrison and wife, Ed Signs, Dr. H. H. Wolf, Winnie Woodard and many others I cannot think of just now. All of these expressed themselves as being well satisfied and seem to be prosperous.

From Los Angeles we visited Long Beach and many other places of interest. We also went to San Pedro and there met Tunis Cordill and his son, Robert Cordill, who is assistant cashier in the First National Bank there. We visited the Catalina Islands, where we saw the flying fish and took a trip on the ocean in a glass bottom boat, which is a wonderful sight. Leaving there, our next stop was Salt Lake City. We attended the organ recital at the Temple. I wish space would permit of a description of the wonderful things there. We also went to Beck's Hot Springs, where we took another plunge.

From there we next went to Denver. We have met here George W. Fink, who runs the Wynne Hotel, Thad Wilderman, George Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Dragoo, Lieber Holmes and Jack Garrett of Clearmont. Dr. C. A. Ellis and Mrs. Ellis were not at home, being in the mountains building a summer home.

We will leave Denver in a few days for Kansas City, where we expect to catch the Owl train for Maryville, arriving there October 31 if the railroad strike does not interfere.

ARTHUR S. ROBEY.

Pickering Christian Church.

Our revival meeting was a great success, but because our evangelist, Bro. James Small, is a pastor, he could not be absent from his church longer, but in the three short week we had fifty-four added to the church, forty-seven of them by primary obedience, and great good accomplished otherwise.

Notwithstanding the strong pull that was made at other points where contests were being held, we had 143 in Bible School last Sunday, and fine attendance at both preaching services. The theme for the sermon next Sunday morning will be "Profit and Loss." Evening theme, "Whither Goest Thou?" Baptism at the close of the morning service. Come in time to be counted for Bible school.

Hilltop Happenings

The Bearcats now have a percentage of 400 in their football schedule of the season there is no doubt that the already played two have been won. There are three more games this season. If all of these are won, it will make the count five won and three lost. Taking into consideration the fact that the games lost were the first of the season thereis no doubt that the team showing a marked improvement. This season we have had sixty-two points scored against us and we have scored thirty-three.

Next Friday the Bearcats journey to Tarkio to meet our inveterate rivals, the Tarks. Last year they won from us by a score of 14 to 6. The following Friday the team goes to Warrensburg.

The final game of the season will be in Maryville, November 19, when the strong Kansas City University team comes here. Kansas City U has a good team and the game will be an appropriate finish to a good season.

The big Halloween party of the Husky Hikers is to be held tonight Every one is expected to come in mask. Last year at the George Washington party which was also a mask affair, everything was present but the costumes. Let us hope that the turnout tonight wil lbe better.

The second edition of the "Tower" will be published this year by the Senior class of the college. The staff has already been selected and the members are at work.

At the presidents reception for the football men last night, the feature was the magnanimous appetite of Leston Webb. It pays to be on the good side of the presidents son. The members of the team presented President Lamkin with an autographed picture of the squad in uniform. Dancing was the feature of the evening.

The "M" club is planning to have the annual election of officers within the next two weeks. So far the club has remained in a doormat state this quarter but plans will soon be made to have a banquet and party. Later in the season initiation will be held for the members of the football squad who receive letters.

According to Coach Sprong, baseball will be one of the college sports this spring. There is an abundance of material in school and with others who will enroll in the winter and spring quarters a fast nine should be developed.

Stress will also be laid on track and tennis. With the coming of several good high tracksters and with those already in school the team should do better at the M. I. A. A. meet than before.

EVANGELIST HOLDS OPEN FORUM AT REVIVAL MEETING

Answers Questions On Scriptures After Second of "Missing Link" Sermons

The rain last night hindered the attendance at the Revival service at the First Christian Church, but a fair sized audience was present to hear the second address upon the subject "The Missing Link." Dr. D. C. Kellems dealt with many phases of the subject and handled in a thorough way many of the arguments presented by the advocates of Darwinism. After a few fundamental principles had been established by the evangelist upon the subject the meeting developed into an open forum. Many questions were asked from the audience.

Dr. Kellems stated frequently that people are too ignorant of the Bible. He believes men have been willing to study most everything else but have given too little study to the Bible itself. A great deal of the trouble today is due to the fact that men do not really know what the Bible itself teaches. He positively states that there is no contradiction and can be none between the Bible and true Science.

The program of many of our high schools and colleges today which permit the Bible to be attacked and will not permit its defense was bitterly attacked in the services last night. It is believed by the Evangelist that the citizens of the country will get their eyes open and will see to it that our legislators will write into our statutes a law providing either for the defense of the Bible or that it cannot be attacked.

Dr. Kellems stated that the discussion last night would be the last upon this topic unless an emergency should arise when it becomes necessary in the defense of truth to bring it up again.

The sermon subject tonight will be "The Death of Christ." Great services are expected tomorrow. With the weather clearing and the prospects for good roads the leaders in the Sunday School are confident that the goal of one thousand will be reached. The men are planning for three hundred and fifty in their class in the tent and the women's classes are hoping to outnumber the men. Tomorrow will be the second and closing day of the contest with the Atchison, Kansas, Sunday School.

Dr. Kellems will preach both morning and night. Professor Humbert will have full charge of the music and there will be special music in the Men's Class. The Pastor will deliver the address.

If the roads permit, the local workers will hold services in some of the outlying Churches on Monday night next week. One of these meetings will be at Bedison and the others will be announced definitely at the services tomorrow.
